First Sentence of the Body Text

The first sentence of the body text is the first sentence after the <body> tag in the HTML code of your web page. Some search engines give more relevance to search terms when they appear in the first sentence. Some will use your first sentence as the description of your page on the search result page.

Example: <body>Here goes the first sentence. This text is not the first sentence.

IMG ALT Attributes

The attribute defines an alternative text for an image when the user uses a text browser or when the user has turned off the display of images in the web browser application. Microsoft's Internet Explorer displays the alternative text if the user puts the cursor over the graphic. This chapter tries to find out if it makes sense to include the search term in the attributes to improve your rankings.

General Advice

This chapter examines the general search engine compatibility of your web page.

Do the following to improve the ranking for your web page on Google.com for the search term "Full Internet Marketing Services"

- OK Search engines need text to index your web pages, to determine the theme of your web site and to produce a site summary. They cannot read what is written on your graphical images or in a Flash movie. Google recommends to create a useful, information-rich site. Fresh, continuously updated content is one of the best ways to ensure that search engines return to your web site (and your visitors, too). Your web page "http://www.fullinternetmarketingservices.com/index1.html" contains 534 words which should be enough for the search engines.
- OK Some search engines penalize web sites if the search terms of the Meta Keywords tag don't appear in the body text of the web page. You don't use the Meta Keywords tag so there won't be any problems with the search engines in this aspect.
- OK Your web page doesn't use the Meta Refresh tag so there won't be any problems with the search engines in this aspect.
- OK Your web page doesn't use the Meta Robots tag so there won't be any problems with the search engines in this aspect.
- OK Your web page doesn't use the Meta Title tag so there won't be any problems with the search engines in this aspect.
- OK Your web page doesn't use any Dublin Core meta tags so there won't be any problems with the search engines in this aspect.
- OK Your web page doesn't use any Meta tags twice so there won't be any problems with the search engines in this aspect.
- OK Your web page doesn't use the <title> tag twice so there won't be any problems with search engines in this aspect.
- OK Some search engines and directories don't accept submissions with capitalized letters in the document title or in the meta tags. Your web page doesn't use all capitalized letters in those web page elements so there won't be any problems with the search engines in this aspect.
- OK Your web page uses script code in an external file so you've already minimized the problems with scripts and the search engines.
- OK Your web page uses only little style sheet code so there won't be any problems with the search engines in this aspect.
- OK Your web page doesn't use frames so there won't be any problems with the search engines in this aspect.
- OK Some search engines consider tiny text (i.e. font size 1) as an attempt to fool the search engines. Some webmasters have abused tiny text in the past to hide dozens of keywords on a web page that human web surfers cannot see. Your web page doesn't seem to use tiny text so there shouldn't be any problems with the search engines in this aspect.
- OK Your web page URL "http://www.fullinternetmarketingservices.com/index1.html" doesn't indicate a dynamically served web page so there shouldn't be any problems with the search engines in this aspect.
